PERSONAL.

The ice-dealers are beginning to look hopeful.

The open winter prophets had better quit their business.

The ice on Benson was two inches thick last night, and still forming.

The rabbits this season are noticeably larger and higher priced than usual.

For some reason the weather bureau failed to give us timely warning of the blizzard.

Pomeroy coal is selling in Maysville at ten cents per bushel, and anthracite at $8 50 per ton.

Eli Gardner was held to appear before the circuit court in the sum of $250 to answer the charge of manslaughter.

Dr. Duval was held yesterday that Mr. C. E. Taylor was doing very well, and he hoped to be able to save his arm.

There was a large crowd of skaters on Herndon's pond yesterday. Benson will soon be ripe for the severe business.

Cold as it was on Thursday, a colored man caught thirteen pounds of bass with a crab bait near Stedman's dam, on Elk-horn.

Mr. R. H. Smith, correspondent of the Lexington Press, was in the city yesterday to look into the affairs of the Register of the Land office.

What about opening the new street from St. Clair to Ann on the river front? The proposition is favorably entertained by nearly every property owner.

Yesterday morning at half-past six o'clock the thermometer registered two degrees below zero, but the cold was not felt as sensibly as on Thursday morning, as there was no wind prevailing.

In the several notices of the great racer Falsetto, lately purchased of Mr. Lorillard by Mr. Alexander, we see no mention of the fact that Falsetto is the product of Fleetwood.

Everything is running smoothly now at the post office, and Dr. Hatchit keeps in good temper. He says he is not quite so comfortable as he was in the cold office, but is soldier enough to put up with almost anything.

Mr. Alex Slack, son of J. C. Slack, coal merchant at Louisville, slipped from a wagon at Mr. Macklin's corner on Thursday evening, and received an ugly scalp wound, which was dressed by Dr. Smith. He was in the act of getting down from the wagon, and unluckily placed his foot upon an icy spot. He suffered a good deal during the night, but was much better yesterday.

If all reports be true, Frankfort is to have a regular newspaper boom. The Commonwealth is to be re-established by Messrs. LaRue & Evans, and a Republic paper, with an entire new outfit of type and presses, is soon to be started. We thought Lexington was going ahead very rapidly in this line and would leave us in the lurch, but the bluegrass city will have to look out for her "horns."

A very unwelcome advance in the price of coal was announced by the dealers in this city on Monday. Saturday evening orders were filled at seventeen cents, and Monday morning at nineteen cents—an advance of 50 cents on a cartload of twenty-five bushels. The dealers say they can bring coal cheaper from Cincinnati by the L. & N. than they can from Lexington by the same road. If a fair rate could be obtained over the short end of the road, we could have coal at a fair price.

Wednesday night, between ten and eleven o'clock, a wind from the north rushed in upon us, and brought a sudden and extraordinary change of temperature. The mercury ran down rapidly in the tube, and proved itself about the quickest silver we have observed. As late as eight o'clock Thursday morning it stood at six degrees above, when it began crawling up to stop at ten, where it remained until towards evening, and then went down again.

This whole community was pained to hear yesterday morning that Judge Wm. Lindsay's infant child had died during the night. It had been very ill the night previous, but strong hopes were entertained of its recovery. The blow to Judge Lindsay is one of greater severity by reason of the fact that it follows so closely upon the death of his wife. He has the heartfelt sympathy of all at Frankfort.

There is ample ground to build just such a theatre as we want on the old site, and lots which are attainable in rear of it. The front of the new building should differ as much as possible from the old front, and the auditorium should be upon the ground floor. We understand Mr. Burr would like to purchase about fifteen feet of the old lot to enable him to enlarge his hotel when he rebuilds, and the suggestion is made that the principal entrance to the new theatre might be upon Ann street, with an arcade entrance on Main. Let us have it in some shape and as quickly as possible; but the insurance money is placed elsewhere.

Mr. Henry Howe Watson, cashier of the Deposit Bank, and Miss Lottie E. Smith, both of this city, were married in Elizabethtown on Thursday, as anticipated in our issue of that date. The ceremony was performed in presence of a few friends at the residence of the bride's relative, Mr. C. C. Cary, at eleven o'clock, and the party arrived here on the afternoon train. The event has been looked for with pleasure by this community, for no two members of Frankfort's society could be more happily mated. Each has been a favorite, and each has had the highest recognition for worth, intelligence and refinement. We welcome them heartily into the bonds, and hope they may never find them irksome.

The streets are rough with new stone.

Several of the gas leaks have been stopped on the South Side.

Mr. John H. Jesse has accepted a call to become a candidate for the Legislature in Woodford.

Hog-killing began in earnest on Thursday, the mercury ranging from six to ten degrees above zero.

Mr. Robert B. Franklin declines a call to become a candidate for School Trustee. He would make a good one, nevertheless.

The freeze got away with the plants on the top shelf in several pits yesterday morning. A coal oil lamp lighted and placed in the center of a small pit will do a great deal towards protecting the flowers.

The Frankfort Cotton Mill will shortly be re-established. Mr. Haly has already made large improvements. It is an industry that ought to be encouraged. The mill has had an excellent reputation for all its products.

In point of number and character of students the K. M. L. will now compare with any institution in the country. The cadets not only present a handsome appearance in their new uniforms, but they are a manly, polite and well behaved set of fellows. They are always welcomed in the city, but Col. Allen keeps them too hard at work to be welcomed very often.

The L. & N. Railroad Co., with its usual liberality in such matters, has agreed to return all the teachers who attend the State Association at Hopkinsville on the 26th, 27th, and 28th of this month, at the low rate of one cent per mile. All teachers who accept these terms must have a certificate of attendance from the Secretary. The round trip rate on the C. & O. from Louisville to Hopkinsville, via Nortonville, is $8.80.

The house of Crutcher & Starks, of this city, with its usual enterprise, has again gotten away with Cincinnati, New York, and Philadelphia in the matter of furnishing uniforms for the State militia. The new company at Lawrenceburg, has just placed with them their order for forty-five regulation uniforms of the best material, trimmings, and manufacture, at a smaller price than it would have been done in either of the cities mentioned. The following special dispatch to yesterday's Courier-Journal from Winchester is another conspicuous evidence of the enterprise of this establishment:

"The company of State Guards recently organized at this place met last night and adopted the name of the 'Clark County Rifles.' They also adopted the regulation uniform, with shako, and awarded the contract for furnishing the uniforms to Messrs. Crutcher & Starks, of Frankfort. The uniforms are to be delivered to the company in four weeks."

Three grand prizes will be given to my patrons first Thursday in January. Philip Selbert, the jeweler.

A CARD.

To "A majority of the Young Voters." While I highly appreciate the compliment you have paid me in asking me to become a candidate for School Trustee, I must thank you for the honor, and respectfully decline to become a candidate.

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE.

Editors of the Yeoman: If John W. Payne will consent to the use of his name as a candidate for School Trustee, he will receive the solid vote of SOUTH FRANKFORT DEMOCRATS. FRANKFORT, Dec. 8th, 1882.

Do not forget that when you purchase anything at my store you can have it engraved free of charge. Philip Selbert, the jeweler.

FOR RENT—The brick cottage in South Frankfort, on same block with my residence. Possession can be given immediately. STODDARD JOINSTON.

We are struck with the exquisite beauty of the Christmas cards for this season. They were never before so attractive. The selection at Hughes & Chiles' drug store will please any lover of high art. Among their assortment are a great many of Prang's prizes.

Messrs Dudley & Brother have quit sawing for the season, having about closed out their stock of logs, but their planer is kept busy. They have two large yards filled with walnut, poplar, pine, and oak lumber—much of it dry.

Buckley's stove store is a point of interest just now to persons whose halls and dining rooms are not well heated. He has several new patterns of heating stoves.

DEATH OF FORTUNA.
(From Tri-Week, Red, and Gun.) This noted mare died at the farm of her owner, Mrs. Reynolds, near Frankfort, Ky., recently. She was a dark bay or brown, bred by the late J. W. H. Reynolds, in 1855, and was a full sister of Falsetto, being by Enquirer—Falcetta; 2d dam Elkhorn, by Lexington. She was ragged in appearance, seeming to want constitution, but that she was a thorough race nag there is no question. As a three-year-old she ran six times, without success; but as a four-year-old, in 1879, she was in great form, starting in ten races, winning six. She won the Louisville Cup, and Special Sweepstakes at Bighorn Beach, in which she beat Hamble and other good races. In 1880 she ran four races, winning one, viz., a sweepstakes for all ages, at Saratoga. She leaves behind her a chestnut weanling colt, foaled April 21, by Whisper, and was again in foal to Virgil.

A TEXAN'S TROPHY.
A Man Who Came After His Share Of The First Capital Prize in the Louisiana State Lottery Drawing.

A nice old gentleman arrived in this city from Texas recently, and on Friday morning presented himself at the Louisiana State Lottery office. With a smile that meant plainly, "I've won this time," he unfolded a one-fifty ticket bearing the number 52,116 and turned it over to the polite clerk who was in attendance. In a few minutes a check for $15,000 was handed him and he departed.

In reply to a question put by a reporter, he said that his name was J. M. Dixon, general insurance agent, of El Paso, Texas.

"That ticket is not mine," explained, Mr. Dixon. "It belongs to my wife. I have been in the habit of occasionally purchasing tickets for the last five or six years. I send money to the main office in New Orleans and receive tickets promptly. This time I received four one-fifty tickets, each bearing a different number. I told my wife to take two, and one of those she received was her share won one-fifth of the first capital prize of $75,000."

"How long have you lived in Texas, Mr. Dixon?" asked the reporter.

"I was born in Tennessee. I resided in New Orleans before the war and traveled as a drummer for different houses. I have been in Texas thirty-two years.

"How did you receive the news of your good fortune?"

"It was telegraphed to Giveston, and a gentleman brought the list of winning numbers to my house. Of course, I was very much delighted. My neighbors grew perfectly wild over my luck, and they will all play in the lottery after this, I expect."

"What do you expect to do with the money you won?"

"Nothing at present. I am in business, as I told you. One of my sons is in the Gulf, Colorado, and Santa Fe Railroad Company's general office at Galveston, and the other is in the grocery business at El Paso. I can get along, and the money will be allowed to remain in the bank."

Mr. Dixon then departed, ever happier than he came, having in his pocket the evidence that he was entitled to a small fortune of $15,000.

A GENUINE TONIC.

Iron and calaisya hark in proper combination with the phosphates, have long been regarded as the purest remedial agents for dyspepsia, general debility, and the long train of ills that follow a weakened physical nature. Dr. Harter's Tonic has proven the superior value of such a combination. It is a remedy that has come into general use for the troubles indicated, and no prominent druggist throughout the country is without it. Its wide spread is the public demand for it. Iron of itself and calaisya bark as well as the two great specifics as much used—very disagreeable medicines to take, and physicians often dislike to give them. In Dr. Harter's Tonic they are combined in a palatable preparation, and one that does away with the need of doctors' prescriptions and doctors' bills for a large class of diseases that afflict the human family.

Sam Harris has made a decided hit in opening a second-hand store. It is one of the best patronized places of business in the city. He don't allow any skins of "Paddy's kitten" about it.

The Western Farmers' Almanac has reached its fifty-sixth issue, and the number for 1883 has just appeared from the press of John P. Morton & Co., Louisville. For more than a half century its excellent character has been maintained. For dignity, interest, and accuracy it stands at the head of a long list, and is not rivaled by any similar publication in the United States. The jealous care and intelligence with which it is compiled has always been highly creditable to the publishers, who seem to find its making more a pleasure than a profit. It finds its way to almost every household, and no farmer's fireside is complete unless it hangs at the chimney piece. Besides a calendar always correct, it contains in a small compass an amount of statistical information and literary selections rarely to be found in any of the more pretentious annuals. Its regular circulation has reached 100,000 copies, and is growing rapidly. The price is only ten cents. Address, Western Farmers' Almanac, Louisville, Ky.
